Your system is a complete course designed so that you can imagine that you're working alongside me as your personal management expert. It even includes many of my simple hand drawn diagrams (those I use when working with my private clients who choose to invest many thousands to get the same information during their intensive 1:1 programmes). We're going to cover everything I know that works and look at some things that won't work (So I'll also save you thousands of pounds and many lost days, by ensuring you don't go down blind turnings, continually hire and fire people, or try to reinvent the wheel).

Look upon this as a practical (not theoretical) management development programme and workbook, where I will be taking you through a complete A-Z of management as your very own Business Coach. Using the 10 tools and the many templates in the book you'll be in a position to get the best possible return from your work force. By following this system and the appropriate activities you'll get spectacular results - as surely as day follows night! This is a; no-frills, no padding, minimum word count approach that's above all simple for you, or your team, to implement for the 'route to the loot' meeting all your teamwork and management needs. Used properly this course will give you a quite staggering and massive return on your investment of money and priceless time.
